Just wanted to pass this on. There was a thread started by a technologist in Indiana about technology savy superintendent awards. Keith Krueger indicated that CoSN is considering making a national award next year (as per META dropping the hint to them!!). Looks like Texas started one last year. Might be a good resource.

Russ

Indiana CTO Council is considering a new annual recognition for a superintendent who best embraces transformative digital learning. Are there other states who already do something similar? If so, we would love to see the rubric that guides your selection!

Thank you,

I think this is a great idea and one that CoSN National may consider doing next year. This is an ideal time for state chapters to start a supt award, perhaps with your state supts assn. When (if) we create a national, your state winner would automatically be advanced.

BTW, we now have 16 state superintendent associations that have endorsed our Empowered Supt initiative...scroll down on page to see list. www.cosn.org/superintendents Please help thank them if they have done this, and encourage them to do it if they have not yet done so.

Thanks, Adela

Texas instituted a Tech Savvy Superintendent award last year. Since we host our Winter meeting in conjunction with the TASA Superintendents conference, we honor them at that meeting. We think this will bring some PR and better collaboration with their group.
